SOCIAL WORK, BSW

Social Work students are usually interested in a wide variety of topics related to social justice, human rights, social policy, mental health, and community organizing. Often underlying those interests is a concern for persons who are vulnerable, oppressed, underserved, and living in poverty. Students interested in social work typically have strong oral and written communication skills, an interest in solving social problems, and an enjoyment of working with people from diverse backgrounds.

Mission of the BSW Program: The BSW Program prepares practitioners committed to promoting social justice and improving the well-being of individuals, families, groups, and communities.

Goals of the BSW Program: Graduates of the BSW program will be able to:

- Demonstrate skills in generalist social work practice informed by the best available evidence
- Engage in culturally sensitive and culturally effective social work practice with diverse groups
- · Apply social work values and ethics
- · Advocate for vulnerable and oppressed populations
- Create sustainable local and global change that improves societal wellbeing

Unique opportunities for BSW students: Some of the unique opportunities the BSW program offers students include:

- Field internship offerings in Washington, D.C., internationally, or in more than 250 social services agencies in Alabama
- · A social work honor's program
- · Research experiences with faculty and graduate students
- · Policy and advocacy-focused Washington, D.C. Fly-In program
- · Opportunities for service learning
- · Community-engaged student organizations

The degree of Bachelor of Social Work requires completion of the courses designated in the following program of study. Elective hours may be used to complete a portion of the University Core Curriculum; additional courses may be required. Students should also review core curriculum requirements in the Academic Records and General Academic Policies section of this catalog. Please note that some courses require proctored exams or skills labs. Students are expected to cover the cost of proctored exams, if applicable. A few courses are not yet available in online format and will need to be completed at another institution.

Note: The School of Social Work reserves the right to make modifications in its program and policies as necessary, but every effort will be made to implement the general program for full-time students.
